

A treemap visualization showing the 2010-2011 U.S. trade deficit by country. The largest area is blue and labeled 'USA'. Other countries are represented in green and yellow, with their names in large black letters. The countries include: NLD, CHE, BEL, DEU, FRA, CAN, AUS, IND, CZE, TUR, ZAF, PRT, GRC, ITA, ESP, BRA, SWE, FIN, NOR, CHN, TWN, KOR, and JPN. The size of each rectangle corresponds to the trade deficit for that country.

A treemap visualization showing the distribution of countries by continent. The largest area is North America (USA), followed by Europe (GBR, DEU, FRA, ITA, ESP, IND, AUS, etc.), Asia (JPN, CHN), Africa (ZAF, EGY, etc.), and Oceania (AUS). The colors represent continents: North America (blue), Europe (green), Asia (yellow), Africa (orange), and Oceania (purple).

< 100
 1,000–4,999
 10,000–99,999
 500,000–999,999

100–999
 5,000–9,999
 100,000–499,999